

The background is a solid tan color. It features several abstract brown shapes: a large, irregular shape at the top center, a large, curved shape at the bottom left, and a large, curved shape at the bottom right. A cluster of approximately 20 small, white, irregular dots is located on the left side, partially overlapping the bottom-left brown shape.

What to talk about

...if you have only five minutes?

The Challenge

- Wait... he is not talking about coffee?
- But everyone expected a talk about coffee!
- Okay, some people might have expected Zig.
- ...or Rust!

Types of Five-Minute Presentations

- Elevator Pitch - Sell an idea

→ Why a Zig rewrite is the only way.

- Lightning Talk - Rapidly share an idea or concept

→ Roasting coffee at home, yay or nay?

- Micro Learning Session - Showcase a specific skill or piece of knowledge

→ How to brew the perfect cup of Joe.

- Ignite Talk - Inspire or provoke thought on a topic

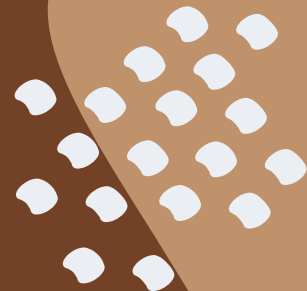

→ Things I hate about Javascript

Effective Topics for Short Presentations

- A single, focused Idea → like coffee roasting, instead of coffee in general
- A Personal anecdote or experience → a failed coffee roasting experiment
- A provocative question or thought → Salt as the answer to bitter coffee?

- Life Hacks
- Recent Discoveries
- Cultural Insights
- Passion Projects
- Myth Busting
- Future Predictions
- Unexpected Connections

Structure and Delivery Tips

- Start Strong
- Have a clear beginning, middle and end
- Speak clearly and Concisely
- Use Effective Body Language
- → ☕ 🍺 🍪
- Practice content and timing
- Engage the Audience
- Show Confidence

Examples and Conclusion

- The Most Important Lesson I've Learned

...is that five minutes is short *and* long!

- One Technology That Will Change Everything

We all know, it is Zig!

- Why $CommonBelief Is Wrong

Salt, in small amounts, is actually making coffee taste better.It's true.

Powered by  Slidev

